FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF OCEAN BEACH, POINT LOMA, MISSION BAY AND MISSION BEACH

Twenty-second Year No. 3 | Phone Bayview 3157 | Friday, November 5, 1943 | Five Cents a Copy | Ocean Beach, California

COMMENT and RUMOR-

The U. S. mail brings to the Ocean Beach News one-half or better of our business, yet we were surprised this week to receive an order for two sets of Christmas greeting cards from Montauk, L.I., New York. We made up a special card last year for D. D. O'Roark and he liked it so well he is reordering and leaving his choice to us. Sailorman O'Roark is on a torpedo testing range on the east coast at present. He was well known in civilian days as an assistant to Ed Kickham at the Mission Beach skating rink and also as an automobile salesman.

"I wish I was at the beach again" says O'Roark, "and will be soon as the war is over—about next July."

A short letter and check from Mrs. B. E. Askew is acknowledged with thanks. She says they like to keep up with events in Ocean Beach. They are living near Spring Valley and say: "We're real dirt farmers, have a nice winter garden, lots of fryers and fat ducks, churn our own butter and even make our own bread. It is beautiful from our hill top."

Ocean Beach never had better citizens than the Askews and we were sorry to see them leave, but the boys wanted some country life, and we're sure it will be good for them all, including Grandma Horner, if the women folks don't work too hard, in their many duties on the little ranch.

Katherine Rigg, co-founder of the Ocean Beach News with her husband in 1922, dropped by to leave a few dollars for subscription and says she is proud that her "baby" has grown to maturity. Perhaps now, she says: "It can take care of itself. In the beginning it needed a lot of attention."

We have an Hawaiian Christmas Aloha and New Year greeting in colorful "island" setting from Sgt. Stanley P. Barskey, who has been out in the Pacific now for several years. Thanks Stan, we are happy indeed to be remembered so early.

When shopping you and I will be much happier if we practice Christian ethics and take only that which we need. Leave some butter, eggs and cream for the other fellow. Milk too, is scarce and if adults feel they can get along without it, they should leave it for the children and babies.

Aleutian Picture at Strand Tonight and Saturday

Technicolor pictures "Report on the Aleutians," an official Army release, well worth your time to see, will be shown at the Strand theatre in Ocean Beach tonight and Saturday.

Most of the pictures show the hazards of flying and landing in the far north country and are taken on Adak island and over Kiska. Adak has grown to be a great protective base with thousands of men quartered there. Life is hard in the north and this film is recommended as a true picture by one of our boys who has spent several years in the islands as well as on the Alaskan mainland.

Kraft Talks on Taxes And State Finances

Assemblyman Frederick H. Kraft, becoming known to some of his local friends as "Senator" Kraft, was guest speaker at Ocean Beach Kiwanis club Tuesday evening. Henry Holman was program chairman.

Kraft reviewed the financial setup of the State of California saying it was splendid at the present time and advised plans which would allow a surplus be set aside for post war construction and improvement. He was on the budget committee and compared finances and expenditures with the anticipated income and expenditure as seen last spring.

Taxes and other receipts for the three month period ending Sept. 30, it was said, for the general fund totaled 75 million dollars which was 17 million more than anticipated and 65 per cent above the collections for the same quarter during five pre-war years. Retail sales tax was $36,119,000 or 10 million more than anticipated in spite of the one-half cent reduction. Bank and corporation taxes were 22 million dollars, being 5 million more than anticipated. California state income tax was $8,834,000, being 1½ million more than anticipated. Liquor tax was $3,591,000 being nearly a half million above the anticipated amount. Inheritance and gift taxes were not as much as had been figured by the committee.

Gasoline taxes, believe it or not, were reported at $11,093,000, which was 23 per cent over the estimate, and Kraft stated no matter how low the coupon value goes these receipts would not be below their estimate.

Expenditures so far by the Warren administration have been six million dollars less than scheduled for the same period.

The state's post war employment reserve as of Sept. 30 was said to be $9,485,000 of which 9 million has been invested in Federal securities. $282,000 has been made available for preparation and plans of post war projects.

The above amount, it was stated, is in addition to 25 million dollars held in reserve and earmarked for war catastrophes.

Current assets of California's general fund is a little over 99 million dollars, a gain of over 15 million during the last quarter. More than two-thirds of this amount is now invested in Federal securities, our assemblyman said.

Rolly W. Fowler was a guest visitor to the club.

Cub Scouts Receive Awards and Treats

Cut Scout Pack No. 328 of Ocean Beach, held their regular monthly pack meeting on Friday evening, Oct. 29th, in the form of a Hallowe'en costume party in the auditorium of the Ocean Beach grammar school. The members of troop 28 Boy Scouts of America were invited to share the evening with them by Mr. Plaisted, cub master.

The meeting opened with the Scouts leading those present in a "Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag," followed by the posting of the Colors. Scoutmaster Chadwick and Carleton Bingham, Eagle Scout, presented to several of the boys their membership and advancement badges. Several of the boys representing the different "dens" put on short one-act plays. Following this all enjoyed ice cream, cookies and apples donated by the Ocean Beach Kiwanis club.

Neighborhood Commissioner Tucker conducted the fourth annual roll call now being taken of all Scout troops, Sea Scout ships and Cub packs. Martin Murphy, delegate from the Kiwanis club to the pack, was introduced, and requested to thank the club on behalf of the pack for their generous donation.. After the welcoming of a new boy from a pack in Florida into membership here and the introduction of the "Den Mothers" who were all invited to visit troop 28, the meeting adjourned with all having a good time.

Extensive Plans Made for American Education Week

San Diego's 65 public schools with 44,076 pupils will be hosts next week, Nov. 7-14, at the 23rd annual celebration of American Education Week.

The schools will welcome visitors daily and each class has prepared special programs for the week. Most schools have scheduled a joint Parent-Teacher association meeting and open house for the neighborhood during the week.

Churches are cooperating with the program by offering special mention in sermons and bulletins on Nov. 7 and 14. The schools are furnishing student programs of speakers and music to some 30 organizations. Daily radio programs presenting civic and school leaders will be given on the three local stations.

The week's program will culminate with a community educational conference which has been called by Will C. Crawford, school superintendent for Nov. 12 at San Diego high school. The conference will start at 4 o'clock, a turkey dinner will be served in the school cafeteria at 6 and the evening section meetings will commence at 7:30.

The afternoon session will feature four speakers. The speakers and their subjects are: Donald E. Hanson, "What do business, industrial and professional people expect the schools to provide for the citizens of our community?"; Eddy Orcutt, "What do those who are employed in the skilled crafts and trades, distributive and other service enterprises expect of our schools?"; Mrs. Orno Tyler, "What do San Diego homes and families expect the schools to provide?"; Dr. John A. Sexson, superintendent of Pasadena city schools, "What do the schools expect of the community?"

Taxpayers' Assn. Reports Relief Costs

The number of needy people receiving public assistance in San Diego county decreased by 2 per cent, when June and Sept. relief rolls are compared, while the total amount of relief paid out in the county increased by 20 per cent, California Taxpayers' association stated today, reporting on its study of public relief in California counties.

In Sept., 8,907 persons were receiving public assistance in the county and $392,433 in relief was paid out. In June, 9,058 persons received $327,602, the association found.

Numbers receiving aid to dependent children showed a drop from 861 children receiving such aid in June to 768 for Sept. General county relief was paid out to 796 persons in June and to 663 in Sept.

Aid to the needy aged was paid to 7,166 persons in the county in June and 7,244 in Sept.

Increased payments to needy aged persons, almost without exception, account for the huge increase in payments for relief thoughout the state, the association found. The number of persons receiving this kind of aid throughout the state went up from 151,422 for June to 154,-55 for Sept. Payments for aid to the needy aged increased from $5,693,764 for June to $7,313,-695 for Sept. The number of persons receiving other kinds of relief and payments for the other kinds of relief, on a total statewide basis, show decreases when June and Sept. are compared.

Find Dead Woman in Santa Monica Ave. Home

The body of a woman identified from personal papers as Elna Duvene, about 50, was found Monday night in her home, at 4945 Santa Monica ave., police reported..

Death was attributed by Dave Bone, deputy coroner, to apparent natural causes but an investigation was being made by detectives. The body was found by a marine acquaintance.

We Can and Should Help Each Other

Plans are being made by prominent local citizens and business people to start a movement that should result in great good. This movement is to endeavor in every way possible to be of practical and spiritual service with everyone in whom we come in contact.

Bodies are tired, nerves are frayed, it's a task to do our shopping, to wait in line at the bank or postoffice. When we have counted the points and selected our foods, there is yet a wait at the checking counter, now, if we can be pleasant to all those about us, clerks and fellow customers, we shall go a long way toward a better life.

Most people are doing one job too many these days, and it is difficult not to push ahead, not to take two quarts of milk or a half pound of butter, when it would be better to share it with the next customer who comes along, even though we do not know that person and count him or her as a neighbor.

Try to get regular food, sleep, and exercise, if we can, and don't waste energy grumbling, growling or complaining, when it will do no good, and only make ourselves and those whom we contact, in a more difficult frame of mind.

When we meet friends with a cheery greeting we better ourselves and become a real tonic to them. So put yourself in the other shoes, and do to others as you would be done by.

Councilmen Seeking Jetty Funds Today

Councilmen Fred W. Simpson and H. DeGraff Austin will be in Los Angeles today to present the city's request for $50,000 in state funds, to match city funds already appropriated, for construction of a stone jetty at the south entrance to Mission bay.

The work is sought to check further erosion along the strand at Ocean Beach. High tides and storms in recent years have washout much of the beach and army engineers have recommended the jetty.

The commission was to have met in San Diego Saturday, but it's office notified City Manager Walter Cooper there would be no San Diego session and that San Diego representatives would be welcomed at 2 Friday afternoon in the State building in Los Angeles.

Installing Rest Rooms On Beach at Niagara Ave.

A crew of city workmen have been building quite a large tile rest room on the beach at the foot of Niagara ave., and toilet facilities, greatly needed in this location, are also to be installed immediately, it is reported.

It's Not Too Early to Think of Christmas

With 40 shopping days before Christmas it may sound a bit odd to start the old battle cry of "Shop Early" but this Christmas season of 1943 is a far cry from previous years, according to Marc Strauss, proprietor of Sportswear by Marc. With the lend lease and our armed forces requiring such huge quantities of most every type of merchandise, the supplies remaining for the civilian will be scanty.

"I have scoured the markets, as have other merchants," says Mr. Strauss, "and find the manufacturers and wholesalers able to furnish but a fraction of my orders. Unfortunately, things are quite apt to get worse rather than better and for that reason I have stocked my store to the best of my ability in order to supply my customers, but even so, I earnestly suggest that all who possibly can, arrange their shopping for Christmas away ahead of the need. One good way to be sure of your needs is to take advantage of the ever popular Lay-Away-Plan, where a small down payment will assure your receiving the merchandise and prevent some real disappointments later."

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

To maintain the nation's essential motor transportation system, the American rubber tire industry will be called upon to make 30 million synthetic passenger car tires in 1944. The synthetic rubber program is being geared to permit such an output without hindering the military needs for rubber.

More than 65 per cent of the war materials reaching factories in Michigan travel on rubber-tired trucks, and 67 per cent of the finished products move out by truck. Proof that our national economy is closely bound with rubber.

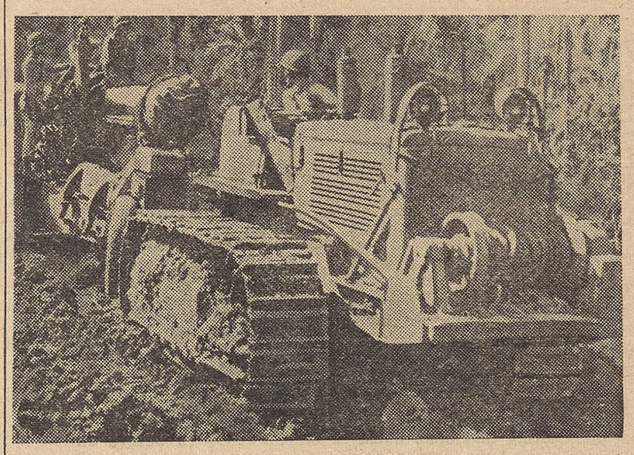
WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Muddy Terrain Slows Drive in Italy As Nazis Strengthen Mountain Posts; Germany Rushes Troops to Bolster Broken Defense Lines on Red Front

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.



Marines are shown hauling 155 mm. rifle through mud to new position on tropical Rendova island in the central Solomons. Known as "Long Toms," these 155 mm. field pieces soon went to work to hurl shells into Jap posts seven miles away.

ITALY:
New Difficulties

To add to the Allies' difficulties in Italy, heavy rain has slogged the countryside, and new burdens have been imposed on the lines of communication bringing supplies to the front.

Because of the inability of motor vehicles to operate over the muddy and mountainous terrain, the Allies are relying increasingly on horses, burros and mules. But they are finding it hard to obtain them since the Germans took most of these animals out of southern Italy or shot those they could not take, and the Fighting French have been unwilling to give up the horses, etc., they have in North Africa for fear of breaking up their mounted units.

Encouraged by Allied difficulties, Nazi Marshal Kesselring reportedly has reinforced his army fighting a dogged delaying action in the rugged country. After retreating from the Volturno river line, the Germans took up positions on the 2,500-foot-high Massico ridge, where they were expected to make another stand before dropping back to the mountains farther north.

Try to Maintain Morale

On October 17, 1918, Germany's General Eric Ludendorff declared: "The tension of the individual man has reached a degree which cannot be increased."

Not long after Germany cracked under the strain, and steely, dynamic General Ludendorff fell apart with the rest. Today, Germany's Hitler, Goebbels and Goering remember 1918, and the Nazis are working feverishly to hold up the people's morale against the Allies' shattering air attacks.

Hitler has ordered the construction of underground concrete hospitals in battle zones, as well as first aid posts and auxiliary hospitals in the cellars of the most solid buildings. Newspapers are carrying on a concerted campaign to educate the people in treatment of eye injuries caused by the heat, smoke, dust, glass-splinters and phosphorus clouds generated by bombing raids.

HOME FRONT:
FDR Meets Labor Leaders

Answering labor's complaint against the stabilization of wages in the face of 5 per cent increase in the cost of living since last year, President Roosevelt promised AFL and CIO leaders that the retail prices would be rolled back through producers' or processors' subsidies.

FDR met with the labor leaders even as there were rumblings of discontent among the railway unions over wage raises. The non-operating railway union was kicking because Economic Stabilization Director Fred Vinson had set aside an eight-cents-an-hour pay boost recommended by a government mediation board, while the operating railway unions claimed they were "insulted" by another mediation panel's award of a four-cents-an-hour increase after they had asked for three dollars a day.

In hearings before the War Labor board, Alabama and eastern coal operators objected to a new contract between Illinois operators and the United Mine Workers, which would boost daily wages between $1.50 and $1.75 by increasing the working day to 8½ hours, including all travel time to and from the pits.

RUSSIA:
Nazis' 'Darkest Hour'

As Russian troops poured across the Dnieper river and promised to trap 1,000,000 German soldiers from the rear, word came from Berlin that the Nazis admitted they faced their darkest hour.

Upon the shoulders of Hitler's army fell the gigantic task of blunting the Russian drive before it could roll southward across the southern Ukraine's broad plains and trap the Germans from behind while they held the line against other Red forces attacking from the front.

As the German lines sagged, the Nazis were reported rushing thousands of troops from the Crimea, immediately to the south. In Melitopol, German and Russian soldiers fought in the streets of the ruined city, with enemy machine gunners operating from charred buildings to delay the Reds' advance.

Both sides sustained heavy losses in men and materiel.

Big Three Meet

Behind the high walls of Russia's forbidding Kremlin, U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov started conferences designed to bring their countries closer together in the military, political and economic fields.

(Top to bottom) Hull, Eden Molotov

While Molotov was expected to raise the issue of the U. S. and Britain opening a second front in western Europe to draw off some of the 200 German divisions facing Russia in the east, it was said Hull and Eden would attempt to persuade the Reds to reconsider their demands for postwar annexation of the Baltic states and parts of Poland, Rumania and Finland.

As the conferees met, it was announced the U. S., Britain and Canada had entered into a new lend-lease agreement with Russia, promising her additional food and military supplies this winter.

48-HOUR WEEK:
For More Production

To meet the demand for record production, the War Manpower commission ordered 71 different areas to go on a 48 hour week, and advised 112 others to prepare to shift to the longer work period.

To make up for the shortage of manpower, the WMC determined on the 48 hour week to get more production per person. Previously, the 48 hour week had been in effect in 40 out of 71 areas where the WMC had declared a labor scarcity existed. Now, the remaining 31 areas must go on the longer week.

In the other 112 areas, the WMC saw the possibility of a labor shortage. If such a shortage impends, preparations will be made to meet it before it occurs to interfere with production.

The 48-hour week already has been instituted in such industries as logging, non-ferrous mining and smelting, and iron and steel.

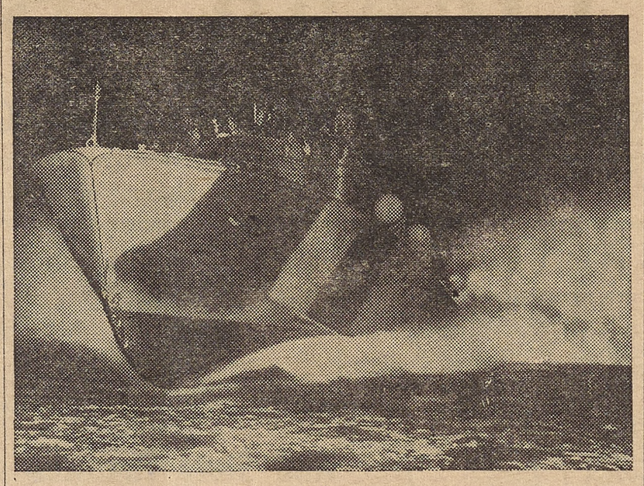
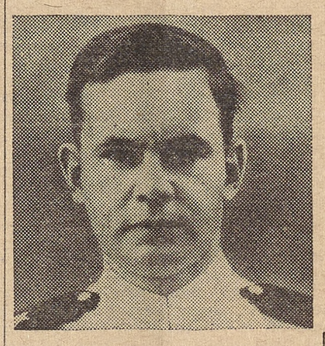
TELEGRAPH: Because of its merger with the Postal Telegraph company, the Western Union Telegraph company is closing 1,800 offices.

SURGERY: A new "thread" for suturing arm and leg nerves and for other delicate operations, is being used by army surgeons. The "thread" is extremely fine wire, almost invisible to the naked eye. It is made of tantalum, a rare metal. Surgeons say one of the advantages of tantalum wire sutures is that they can be observed by X-ray during the healing process.

They Strike at Night



A Japanese warship is moored at night in the black waters of an island bay waiting to attack Allied vessels. The only sound is the lapping of water at her sides and occasional high-pitched oriental chatter. A motor roar is heard at the mouth of the bay. Shrill oriental orders are screamed aboard the warship as her searchlights knife through the night to reveal a tiny PT boat racing along her port side. Flames suddenly shoot from the huge enemy craft. The PT boat spins around and dashes for the open sea as enemy bullets pouring from the burning enemy ship sing around the little battle wagon. But the hail of enemy fire fails to stop the tiny vessel as it dashes back into the protecting blackness of the night. Another successful PT raid has become history.

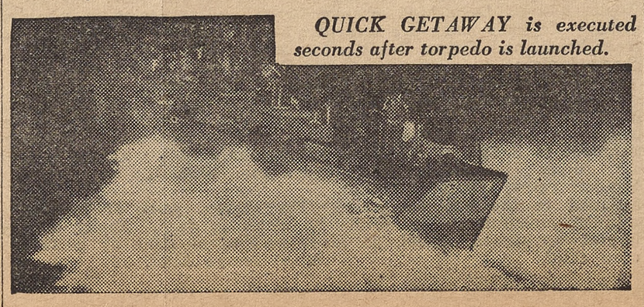


HERO—Lieutenant John D. Bulkley, who was in command of the PT boat which took General MacArthur from Bataan. Bulkley is credited with the torpedoing of an enemy vessel.

CONFERENCE—It's serious business as the officers of a Patrol Torpedo Boat squadron confer before going into action. PTs match their speed against the power of big guns. Right: Caught in a Jap searchlight, a PT crew sends out a smoke screen.

VIGILANCE is vital. This enlisted man watches for the dark hull of an enemy ship.

MACHINE GUNS often put out Jap searchlights. Main PT weapon is the torpedo.



QUICK GETAWAY is executed seconds after torpedo is launched.

SLEEPING CARS AND GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

AS A WAR emergency measure the government has gone into the business of providing sleeping cars. To supply additional sleeping car accommodations it is financing a new fleet of specially designed cars that will be leased to, and operated by, the Pullman company for the period of the war, used for the transportation of men of the army, of whom an average of 30,000 are on the road from somewhere to somewhere else every night.

They are to be of a new type, patterned on the lines of the continental European lounge cars for day travel, with seats only on one side. At night these seats will be the lower of three tiers of berths and passengers will sleep crosswise instead of lengthwise, of the car.

Let us hope they may not long be needed for soldier travel, and when no longer needed for that the government will get out of the sleeping car business.

This is not the first time the government has financed the building of railroad trains for war purposes. In 1918, Col. Henry M. Bylesby, then the purchasing agent in England for the American army, contracted for the construction of five complete hospital trains to be operated in France. The trains were only partially completed when the Armistice was signed on November 11. Bylesby was the type of business man who does not hesitate, but does things quickly. I was in his London office on November 12 when he was in session with the contractor for those trains. Bylesby asked that the contractor figure the value to himself, for other purposes, of the material he had purchased that was as yet unused, the value to himself of such portion of the job as had been completed, and to name a price for the surrender of the contract.

Three weeks later, I met Colonel Bylesby on a train bound from New York to Chicago. The United States government was out of the business of building and operating hospital trains as well as many other lines in which we had made extensive contracts in England. All such contracts had been settled within two weeks. The nation was out with a very much lower percentage of loss than was to prove true with our transportation and other ventures in France, where we sold to the French government at a very small portion of our investment cost, and then did not collect.

May there be another Colonel Bylesby around to dispose of our sleeping car investment when the cars are no longer needed to transport our soldiers. It is much better that we buy our Pullman accommodations from Pullman than from the United States government.

HOMETOWN PAPERS AND WAR BONDS

THE INFLUENCE AND VALUE of the country press in America has been demonstrated by the effect of the underwritten advertising carried in its columns on the sale of war bonds.

The idea of such advertising started in 1917, just before the second loan to finance World War I. I was familiar with the operation at that time as I had proposed the idea and presented it to the treasury department. It took some considerable effort to put it over until I reached the then secretary of the treasury, Carter Glass. As the publisher of a small city daily, a typical home-town paper, he saw the possibilities and gave the idea his unqualified approval. Through such advertising the sale of war bonds in rural communities was multiplied as compared with the results on the first loan, a result Secretary Glass attributed to the influence of the home-town newspapers.

To a considerable extent the thing that did the job was the names of the sponsors. That was especially true when those names included the churches, the lodges, service clubs and other local organizations as well as the business people. Those names represented a recommendation on the part of local people.

In a letter received from Secretary Glass after the successful completion of the Victory loan he said no other one factor had contributed so much to the financing of the war. More than 500,000 pages of such advertising had been printed, and that record has been surpassed by the amount of underwritten advertising carried by home-town papers during World War II. That is what a free press can do, and has done, for the nation.

SENATOR BYRD is asking what the administrative departments of the government propose to do with the 244 billion dollars now in their hands as unexpended balances of appropriations that have been made by congress. He thinks there should be some accounting before asking for more billions. That 244 billions is a tidy little sum to be lying around loose. It amounts to just about $3,874 for each of the 63 million workers in the United States, and it is the workers who will have to pay the bill.

From an old French word "mes" derived from the Latin word "missus" meaning a course at a meal, comes the Army's name "mess" for its breakfast, dinner and supper. Favorite meal with the soldier is chicken dinner—his favorite cigarette, Camel. (Based on actual sales records from service men's own stores.) A carton of Camels, by the way, is a gift that's always welcome. And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard wherever they are.—Adv.

DOAN'S PILLS

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

W.N.U. SERVICE

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, former feature editor of a North Carolina newspaper, has been inducted into the army and has spent some time in training at Fort Bragg. In his story he has given prospective inductees considerable advice. Immediately before induction he advocates a period of "painting the town red." Once in, the new soldier should "keep an open mind" about what he learns because "the first three weeks are hardest." Private Hargrove has been missing the point of some of his essential training and as a result he has had considerable KP duty. Some of his friends have been advanced to Corporal and his Sergeant has asked why he was not promoted.

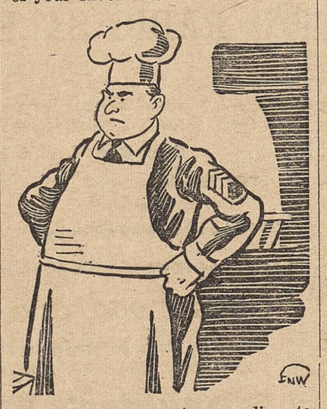
CHAPTER V

"Me?" The idea had never occurred to me. "I'm just not the executive type, I suppose. Back at the News, the boss told me that if I stayed there sixty years, I'd never get promoted. I'm just not the type that gets promoted."

"Let's look at the record," said the sergeant. He pulled his little black notebook from his pocket.

"On the drill field Saturday morning, you pulled forty-eight boners out of fifty marching commands. Everything you did was backwards.

"Friday morning you fell out for reveille without your leggins. Saturday you had your leggins but no field hat. Monday morning neither of your shoes was tied and none of your shirt buttons were buttoned. Tuesday morning it was without leggins again."



"A mess sergeant, according to military legend, is a cook whose brains have been baked out."

"I'm never really awake," I protested, "until ten o'clock."

"You ain't awake then," he scoffed. "Every Monday morning without fail I have to wake you up at least a dozen times. I have to look behind all the posts around here to see which one you're sleeping against. You snore and disturb your classes, too!"

He was exaggerating there, I told him, I don't snore. And I'm sleepy only on Monday morning. The rest of the time I'm alert and energetic.

"You're too energetic sometimes!" he roared. "Just this morning, when the lieutenant was coaching the platoon in rifle sighting and you were on fatigue duty as usual! That was a pretty one! You ran up and down the battery street twenty-two times in thirty minutes and you saluted the lieutenant every time you passed him! Do you think he ain't got a thing to do but return your salutes all morning?"

This was evidently a rhetorical question, so I didn't answer it.

"You don't salute an officer every time you see him when you're right there at his side practically all day. You salute him the first time you see him and the last time you're going to see him.

"And then when the lieutenant explains that to you," he sighed, "then what do you do! The next time you see him, you salute him again and then ask him was you supposed to salute him that time!"

He put his head in his hands and drummed sadly on the toe of his foot locker. He raised his head after a time and looked into the notebook again.

I knew what was coming next and I edged toward the door.

"And then you low-rated the mess sergeant's recipe for creamed beef on toast and told him his chow was the worst in the Army. And you said you was going to start eating in the next battery. That hurt his feelings so bad that he burned the potatoes for the next three meals!"

I promised to apologize to the mess sergeant. The sergeant read out of his notebook for five or six minutes more, enumerating the things I had consistently done wrong.

"Now, do you know," he asked wearily, "why you don't get the red stripes when they give them out?"

"I suppose I'm just not the executive type," I told him.

A mess sergeant, according to military legend, is a cook whose brains have been baked out. This does not apply to the mess sergeant in our battery, whose feelings are easily hurt by cruel remarks and who weeps tears into the mashed potatoes when he's picked on. This is simply the old Army definition of a mess sergeant.

All of us rising student cooks are eligible to become mess sergeants, Staff Sergeant Adams told us in our first cooking class yesterday morning. Then we can sit out in the cool dining rooms and yell back orders for the cooks to yell at the student cooks to yell at the kaypees.

This is not the beautiful goldbricking life that it seems, though. The mess sergeant has to make requisitions and keep records on all the rations, he has to make out the menus, see that the food is prepared properly and supervise the work of the cooks, the student cooks, and the kaypees. Besides this, he must listen to all the gripes about his food and to the threadbare jokes about cooks who get drunk from lemon and vanilla extract.

All this he must do, with his brains baked out.

The cook, lucky little rascal that he is, also leads an ideal life. He is allowed to believe that he knows more about cooking then the mess sergeant will ever know, although he is not supposed to tell the mess sergeant that he does. He works one day and sleeps the next two.

If the cook is not feeling cheerful, he can pick on at least one student cook and at least five kaypees. On the battlefield, he is in the safest position behind the lines, since the food is endowed with more sentimental value than the top sergeant. The jokes about Army cooks being shot at from both sides are not based upon fact.

However, friend cook has to greet the morn before the morn gets there. On the days when he works, he has to get up between 3:00 and 3:30 o'clock in order to prepare a substantial breakfast for about two hundred healthy, growing boys whose appetites are exceeded only by the size of their mouths and the power of their lungs.

Yesterday we started to school, with cookbooks and manuals and loose-leaf notebooks for our homework. The only way in which it differed from public schools was that the naughty boys didn't have to go and sit with the girls. Also, the dunce seat, instead of being in the corner of the classroom, was said to be behind a large sack of potatoes in the battery kitchen.

The only hope for an easy time in class was gone in this school. There's no percentage in bringing a shiny red apple to a teacher who has the key to at least one well-stocked pantry.

In the kitchen, they tell us, all the cleaning-up work is to be done by the kaypees, so that the cook may be doing more important things. This, unfortunately, doesn't apply to the daily task of cleaning the stoves thoroughly. The stoves, it says here in the books, are the cook's tools and he must do his own grinding.

It isn't worth the time to wait for the stoves to get comfortably cool before you begin the twilight beautification of these overgrown infernos. In order to avoid the rush at the theater, and to let the kaypees off early, start work now.

The stoves must be cleaned inside and out—thoroughly. First, shake down the fire. All the live coals must go into the ashpan under the grate. That much is simple. Then remove the ashpan, red coals and all. It must be dumped into the ash can out on the garbage rack. This entire procedure should be simple, too, it says here. All you have to do is catch the front handle with a heavy glove and catch the little hook in the rear with the far end of your cap lifter. Here we go!

Carry the ashpan well in front of you. Ain't it hot! When you get to the door, simply open it with the toe of your shoe. Like this. Like—Doesn't seem to work. Try again. Try pushing the right screen so that the left one will swing slightly toward you. Ready? Slightly push the right screen. Something seems to be wrong here.

During this time, you will become increasingly aware that the glove over the ashpan handle is becoming hotter and hotter. Just as you get your toe into the door, the heat penetrates the glove and you decide—very suddenly—that perhaps it's best to drop the whole matter. Drop it slowly, carefully, tenderly—if you can. Do not drop it upon the wooden floor. Look around, if you think you have time, and locate an overturned boiler on which to set it. Whew, that hand's hot! No boiler? Then drop it anyway!

You will find that dropping the ashpan, even though you did it gently, has released a small amount of floating ash, all of which will be absorbed into your mouth and nose. Patience, brother. See that the ashpan isn't lying where it will burn anything, such as a perfectly good wooden floor. Pour cold water on the glove, wait for the resulting steam to blow away, prop open the door as you should have done in the first place, and try, try again.

This time you will almost reach the garbage rack before the glove again gets hot. Slide, Kelly, slide! You won't get there without dropping the whole pan into the clean road, but at least you tried.

Beat the pan against the ash can several times for sound effect. Return to the kitchen, where the mess sergeant, who was watching you through the window all the time, will direct you to return and clean it up.

By the time you have finished and look about you, the kaypees have finished their work and are sitting around gaping at you as if you were a steam shovel. A very, very black steam shovel.

Isn't gas a wonderful fuel?

Private Sher and I were sitting out on the back steps to dodge the cleaning work going on inside when we saw the sergeant bearing down on us from the other end of the battery street.

"It's no use scooting inside, Hargrove," said Sher. "He's already seen us. Look tired, as if you'd already done your part of the work." Private Sher is the goldbricking champion of Battery A and always knows what to do in such an emergency.

We both draped expressions of fatigue over our faces and the sergeant skidded to a halt before us. He reached into his hip pocket for the little black book and aimed a finger at both of us.

"Bums!" he shouted. "Bums! I worked my fingers to the bone yesterday morning getting this platoon to pretty up the barracks for inspection. Comes inspection and two privates have dirty shoes lying sprawled all over the floor under their bunks! Private Hargrove and MISTER Private Sher! Report to Corporal Farmer in fatigue clothes."

We reported to Corporal Farmer, who looked at his list of jobs. "As much as you don't deserve it," he said, "you two goldbricks are in line for canteen police."

Mr. Private Sher and I walked up the battery street toward the canteen.

"Is this canteen police business good or bad?" I asked.

"Oh, so-so," he said. "You have to clean up the papers and cigarette butts around the post exchange first thing in the morning. Then you come around and check up three or four times during the day."

I stopped, aghast. "What do you do between times?"

"Just be inconspicious," said Sher. "That's all there is to it. Please pick up that candy wrapper over there. My back aches."

We cleaned up the grounds around the post exchange and sat for a while in the shade, watching a battery going through calisthenics. With beautiful precision, the soldiers swung their rifles up, down, to the right, to the left. They went through the quarter, half, and full knee bends and the shoulder exercises and the rest of the routine.

"Those boys seem to be improving, Mr. Sher," I said.

"Result of hard work," said Maury. "Personally, I get awfully tired watching this. We'll wear ourselves out. Let's go over to my kitchen and handshake for a bottle of milk."

"No," I protested. "We must go to my kitchen."

"To avoid a tiring argument," suggested Private Sher, "we will go to both our kitchens. We can't be thrown out of both of them."

After successful forays on both kitchens, Private Sher began to yawn with boredom. "My dear Hargrove," he said, "we must stimulate our minds. Let us adjourn to my place for a game of checkers." Private Sher's "place" was only one flight of stairs removed from my squadroom, so we adjourned.

"He's already seen us. Look tired as if you'd already done your part of the work."

After two games of checkers, Private Sher waved his arms. "This is folderol," he said. "You are no checker player, Hargrove. You have no idea of tactics. Let us sit by the window and watch our comrades drill. There is something stirring in the sight of fine young men perfectly executing a marching order."

While we were sitting there being stirred, another corporal disturbed us. He wanted us to go with him to haul coal.

"Much as we would like to help you haul coal, my good man," said Maury, "we are now actively engaged in the work of policing up the post exchange. Feel free to call upon us at any other time."

The corporal placed his hands on his hips and stared at us. "You're being punished," he asked, "with canteen duty?"

"There's no need to be vulgar," said Sher. "If you will excuse us, it is time for us to go again to look for cigarette butts around the post exchange. Coming Mr. Hargrove?"

"Coming, Mr. Sher. And a good day to you, corporal!"

Keep Air Force Busy

During the first nine months of 1942, the army air forces flew, within the continental United States, almost a billion and a half miles, the equivalent of 7½ round trips to the sun or almost 57,000 trips around the world. This is about 135 per cent more miles than were flown by the army during the entire 10-year period from 1930-1939 inclusive.

Cork Long Used

Just when the use of cork first began is not definitely known. Certainly the ancient Greeks and Romans were familiar with some of the properties of cork. The earliest use of cork of which we have accurate record is related by Plutarch who says a messenger used a cork float as an aid in swimming the Tiber when Rome was besieged by the Gauls in 400 B. C.

Lose Vitamins in Shipping

When the facts about vitamin loss in shipping are fully known, radical changes in the system of mass production at distant points, and also in market grading standards, must result, nutritionists say.

Children Need Butter

One of our most valuable fats, butter is essential in the diet of children.

Women Cook for R. R. Gangs

Women continue to "invade" the field of men in railroad work and now on the Central Vermont railway lines, in England, women are being employed as cooks on work trains and the feminine touch in the preparation of food for hard-working track and welding gangs is making itself felt. One woman has been assigned on a special work train which houses an "extra gang" of some 75 workmen who are laying new rail and another woman is cook on the work cars of a track welding crew.

Lights On!

Things are looking brighter now all over the nation. Ever since the demise of the dim-out regulations on the first of the month the theme has been "Lights on!"

And the brighter lights reveal a brighter side of the war picture—that is, the overcoming of the submarine menace which made the dim-out necessary a year ago last August. Remember, however, that they will be applied in case of an emergency.

The brighter lights should give a real lift to everybody's morale. The lights on Main st. have shed their "blinkers" and are "giving out" in a "big way."

American Education Week

"Educate and inform the whole mass of the people, enable them to see it is to their interest to preserve peace and order, and they will preserve them. They are the only sure reliance for preservation of our liberty."

It is well that we recall these words of Thomas Jefferson in observing American Education Week from November 7 to 13.

For scores of years the American public school system has stood as a bulwark protecting our liberty within the nation.

American Education Week highlights not only the great work done by our public schools, but the imperative need of protecting these schools so that they in turn may carry on their part in the preservation of our liberty.

Marines 168th Anniversary

It is perhaps fitting that the 168th anniversary of the founding of the United States Marine Corps is on the eve of our Armistice Day. Although the public isn't generally aware of it, the Marines, who are always "First to fight for right and freedom" are also first to help keep the peace.

It was on Nov. 10, 1775, that Robert Mullan, proprietor of Tun's Tavern in Philadelphia, was authorized to recruit the Continental Marines. Two full battalions were to be raised for service on land and sea.

Immediately afterward, one group of Marines fought with General Washington at Trenton, while another group joined Commodore Esek Hopkins of the Continental Navy. This detachment of Marines was responsible for the first commando raid in American history: on the Bahamas.

Still another detachment of Marines fought on the vessels seeking control of Lake Champlain. Thus, from the very beginning, Marines exhibited their versatility. Since those early days the Marines have fought on land, sea and in the air, in every war—declared or undeclared—in which the United States found itself involved, from the Barbary Coast to Korea, from Sumatra to Panama.

We salute you who wear the honored uniform of the United States Marine Corps, on this memorable day.

Pt. Loma High Notes

An Afternoon of Drama

Advanced drama students at Pt. Loma high will present an invitational program of one-act plays in the school auditorium, Friday, Nov. 5th, 2:00 o'clock. Friends and parents are most cordially invited to this program which serves as a prelude to the opening of American Education Week.

The delightful farce-comedy "Fourteen," by Alice Gerstenberg, will be given with Irene Phillips, Phyllis Lantz, Genia Sprinkle, Norma Belloff is student director.

"Thursday Evening," a clever domestic comedy will be presented with Milton Reynolds, Rita Bouteiller, Dorothy Hudson, Jane Price in the cast. Tom McGee is serving as student director.

Drama Goes to Dana Junior High

As a gesture of neighborliness, advanced drama students will present the one-act comedy-drama "The Fifteenth Candle," at Dana Junior high for their double assemblies, Tuesday morning, Nov. 9th, 9:40 and 10:10. This very excellent play by Rachel Field is most appropriate for the celebration of American Education Week since it urges the continuance of going to school through an interestingly devised story. Janet Lynch, student director, will present Jon Kowal, Estelle Partlow, Mary Rimell, Ellen Gall and Harry Shannon in this play.

An Invitation

Any clubs or organizations desiring to have Pt. Loma talent for programs should contact Jeweldean Brodie, chairman of programs.

AMERICAN HEROES
BY LEFF

Hyman Epstein knew that after wounding a man the Japs around Sanananda were withholding their fire, using the injured soldier for bait until unarmed medical aides like himself came into range. Yet again and again he crept out under sniper fire to rescue wounded comrades until at last the Japs got him.
"That kid was the best," his commander said of determined little Hymie Epstein. Are you buying War Bonds as determinedly?

Civilian Defense---

By ONA E. PITCOCK

I know you are a busy bunch of girls this week packing Christmas boxes for our service men but you are doing a wonderful work and making a lot of tired and homesick boys a little happier. Since I started writing this our box for the south Pacific, containing our kits and gum was picked up by Navy.. Wonder where it will go this time but feel sure we will hear as we did before. Hope we of the Beach area make our quota of 500 boxes for our boys that are still with us but who may soon leave. Remember all articles such as games, that will not go in your boxes can be given to Mrs. Miller our district leader or be turned in at Red Cross unit, 4769 Del Monte and they will be sent to the convalescent ward at Navy hospital.

Mrs. David A.. Frazer has issued a Christmas card bulletin for the Women's Division Civilian Defense Council which reads, "The Red Cross has requested the Women's Division, Civilian Defense Council to assist them in providing Christmas cards which the patients in the U. S. service hospitals may send to their friends and families.

"You may send the Christmas cards to the Women's Division office, 238 Spreckles bldg., or the Red Cross headquarters, Balboa park.

"Will you please inform the women of the Block Plan under your leadership that their contribution to this additional Christmas project will be appreciated by the sick and wounded men in the U. S. armed forces. Signed—Mrs. David A. Frazer, chairman Women's Division, Civilian Defense Council."

Also here is copy of a letter from Adm. C. A. Blakely, executive secretary, Civilian Defense Council:

"On Friday, Aug. 21st, 1942, the San Diego Defense Council approved the following policy. This policy is still in force and should be strictly adherred to:

"That the activities of candidates for office and all political subjects be forbidden at civilian defense council meetings or meetings of any groups subsidiary thereto, as no civilian defense activity should have any political implications.

"It is not recommended, however, that candidates for public office be obliged to withdraw from civilian defense."

(Signed) C. A. BLAKELY,
Executive Secretary,
Civilian Defense.

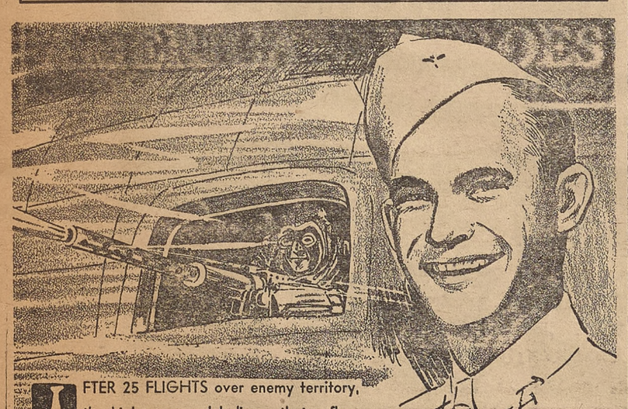
VICTORY'S SONS



AFTER 25 FLIGHTS over enemy territory, the high command believes that a flyer has had enough. Enough dodging of flak, machine gun bullets, and dirty weather. Sergt. Clarence F. Winchell from Oak Park, Ill., has made those 25 flights. He has gone over Germany from a base in England. While his mates dropped the giant bombs, he manned his gun in the waist of the Fortress, beating off the fierce German fighters. He has definitely shot down two enemy pursuit ships, and is credited with the probable destruction of five others, and with damaging 12 more. All this in 25 trips, over the most hotly defended corner of Europe.

Now Sergeant Winchell is retired from active duty. Not that he wants to quit the game, to get away from the tension, the constant danger. Did you ever see a real fighter who was ready to get out of the combat?

Sgt. Winchell wears the distinguished flying cross, and the air medal with three oak leaf clusters, as do the other members of the crew of the "Memphis Belle."

Dana High News

American Education Week will be observed by Dana junior high school the week of Nov. 8th through the 12th and parents and patrons are urged to visit the school any day next week.

"Open house" will be held on Thursday evening, Nov. 11th, Armistice Day. Teachers will greet parents in their classrooms from 7:15 to 8:15 and the entire plant will be open for inspection.

At 8:15 a special program will be presented by the Parent-Teachers association. The new P.-T.A. board headed by the president, Mrs. W. J. Brewer and the entire faculty of the school will be introduced. The Dana band will play a number of selections after which a dramatic sound movie entitled "America Can Give It" will be shown.

Cristmas Gift Bulletin

By Mrs. David A. Frazer, Women's Division, Civilian Defense.

"Is there a Santa Claus? The answer is yes:

The Women's Division Block Plan again will join with the Red Cross and other community organizations in playing Santa Claus to thousands of men of the armed forces in camps and hospitals in this area, by filling Christmas gift boxes.

We must undertake this work with fierce determination to repel the darkness of war for these service men by helping to celebrate Christmas as never before. Lest we forget, the enemy would destroy Christmas. Let us work with spontaneous defiance to defeat influences that would blackout the Christmas spirit. Christmas can, and must, and will, be kept because Christmas stands up and opposes something that is hurting mankind.

Has Christmas our vote to come true for every man in the camps and hospitals in this area? Is our heart for it? We say yes! for we know that every Block Plan leader will not fail to do her part.

The sternest martial force on earth today is the Will to Good, and every insufficient, every cruelty and injustice, will crumble before it, if the Home Front continues to do its part.

Everyone who reads this think it over, and digest it, and resolve never to fail to do your part in keeping your oath that you made when you became a Block Plan worker.

Mrs. Frazer then gave us instruction in what to put into the boxes, saying the articles must be new and our deadline in getting them in, Dec. 1st. Be sure to put your list of contents on the outside of the box on a separate piece of paper that can be torn off without injuring the wrapping.

Open meeting, Monday Nov. 8th, at 1 p.m. at the church, corner Ebers and Cape May. All residents of the district are invited to open meetings. The speakers have a message of interest to all, and everyone will benefit by attending. A question period follows:

Vice-Admiral C. A. Blakely, U.S.N. (ret.), will be the speaker at the Nov.. meeting. .

Citizens Urged to Speed Up Donations To War Chest at Once

San Diego county citizens must speed up their donations to the War Chest's "Million for Mercy" if the goal of $1,030,748 is to be reached by Monday, George A. Scott, campaign chairman, said yesterday, as 5000 volunteer workers entered the final phase of the 1943 drive.

Scott placed the burden of responsibility on the shoulders of the public to help finance "the most important task of the year —the privilege of supporting the work of 52 agencies which are sending relief, food and mercy 'round the world."

In response to many requests from those who have not yet been contacted, Scott said that "donations of this type can be brought or sent directly to the War Chest offices in the Spreckles bldg." All who wish to give supplemental donations may do so to the original volunteer worker, or directly to the War Chest offices, it was announced.

The last report luncheon Friday showed the total subscriptions at $489,672.51 or 47.5 per cent of the goal..

It's always a big crowd in these war days. JUST JESTING

Suckers All

A man in a mental hospital sat dangling a stick, with a piece of string attached, over a flower bed. A visitor approached, and wishing to be affable, remarked: "How many have you caught?"

"You're the ninth," was the reply.

The average high school student usually classifies his parents among the simpler things of life.

Butter to Him

Five-year-old Joe, returning from a visit to his Aunt, said, "Mother, Auntie churns her apples."

"Why do you think so, Joe?"

"Well, Auntie said, 'Joe do you want some apple butter on your bread?' "

Big Order

An engineer went into a lumber merchant's office. "I want some timber for a bridge," he said.

He was ushered into a director's office, treated royally and promised the best timber procurable.

"Now where does this bridge go?" asked the merchant.

"On my violin," replied the engineer.

"Terrible, terrible!" replied the other. "It is starvation that is staring me in the face."

"Is that so," said the other. "It couldn't be very pleasant for aither of ye, I'm shure!"

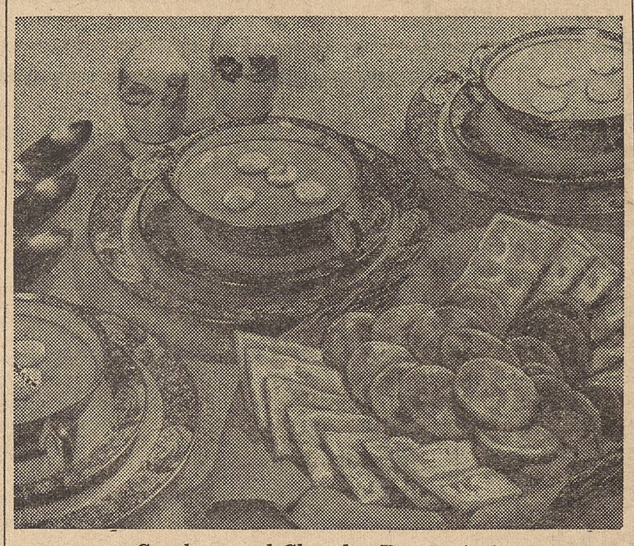
HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers



Crackers and Chowder Harmonize!
(See Recipes Below)

Soup Satisfies!

There's not one dish in any cooking repertory that can even come close to fill the place of soup. It can be the appetite - tickler to start the meal, or a light, inspired concoction to do for luncheon, or a steaming hot, sturdy soup to be the meat, the vegetable and the main dish for a cool night's dinner while the wind blows hard outside.

If any crisis arises as far as your own point - ration allowance, then start exploring the fascinating possibilities of a few meaty bones, celery leaves, pungent onion, and a spray of parsley, chives, marjoram or chevril. Fat, cozy tureens of soup will ward off any hunger now as they have always done when food supplies are slender.

There's no doubt that the tureen will again become a part of your kitchen equipment—at least for the duration. You can make delicious soup out of almost anything—and soup can make the meal if you serve it with plenty of unrationed crackers. There are literally all kinds of these to go with any soup you care to name.

Here's a fish chowder that is rich, savory and thoroughly satisfying. Serve it with common or pilot crackers to make the meal. Or, if you prefer, oyster crackers, the round tasty type, saltines or plain soda crackers—any one will be a natural accompaniment:

Fish Chowder.
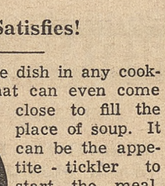
(Serves 8)

3 pounds haddock or cod
3 potatoes, sliced
3 medium-sized onions, chopped
3 slices salt pork, diced
8 crackers
1 quart milk
1 pint cream
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
Salt and pepper

Cook fish in boiling water until done. Remove fish from water and cook potatoes and onions in fish water until soft. Fry salt pork until crisp. Skin and bone fish and add with pork scraps, to chowder. Soak split crackers in milk. Heat milk and cream with crackers, and add to chowder. Add butter or margarine, salt and pepper.



Here is another savory soup which will make a perfect main dish for the meal:

Lynn Chambers' Point-Saving Menu

*Fish Chowder With Crackers
Tossed Green Salad
Biscuits Jelly
Beverage
Lemon Pie
*Recipe Given

Scotch Broth.
(Serves 16)

⅔ cup dried barley
⅔ cup green, split peas
½ pound lamb shank
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts water
2 leeks or onions, chopped
2 carrots, diced small
1 turnip, diced small
1 pound cabbage, sliced
4 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
1 carrot, grated

Soak peas and barley overnight, in separate bowls. Place lamb flank in a large saucepan; add salt and cold water to cover. Bring to a boil and simmer 1 hour. Add leeks, carrots, turnip, cabbage, peas and barley. Simmer 1 hour. Add parsley and grated carrot. Stir well and serve.

Potatoes and onion are go-togethers in soup. Carry the harmony even further and serve with the soup, the round, toasty type of cracker:

Cream of Potato and Onion Soup.
(Serves 6)

4 onions
4 medium-sized potatoes
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 cups scalded milk
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Salt and pepper

Boil onions and potatoes together until tender. Drain, saving 1 cup of the water. Rub the vegetables through a coarse strainer. Melt the butter or margarine, add flour and blend until smooth. Add milk and potato-onion water, and combine with onion and potato pulp. Season with chopped parsley, salt and pepper. Beat with egg beater and serve at once.

Did you know that a cheese type of cracker is best with the tomato soups? It brings out the flavor of the soup better than any other kind of accompaniment:

Tomato Bisque.
(Serves 6)

4 cups milk
¾ cup stale bread crumbs
2½ cups canned tomatoes
1 small onion
6 cloves
½ teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons sugar
4 tablespoons butter or margarine

Pour the scalded milk over the bread crumbs and rub through a sieve. Stew the tomatoes with the seasonings and strain. To the tomatoes, in which the soda has been dissolved, add the reheated milk mixture, and last the sugar and butter mixture. Serve at once.

A delicious bean soup has been many a cook's road to fame. It's not difficult at all if you make it this way:

Black Bean Soup.
(Serves 12)

1 pound black beans
2 cloves
2 sprigs thyme or 1 bayleaf
3 quarts water
1 onion, chopped
1 ham bone or ½ pound salt pork or
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
Dash of salt

Soak beans overnight in cold water. Rinse and drain beans well. Place in kettle with rest of ingredients. Bring to a boil and let simmer 4 hours. Add more water from time to time, if necessary. Put through sieve and serve with slice of lemon and sliced hard-cooked egg.

Lynn Says:

The Score Card: Now that butter has gone up in point value, you may have to learn to use other spreads such as margarine. Be sure to select a margarine that gives you a definite guarantee of the amount of vitamin with which it is enriched. To color the margarine, let it soften until smooth and creamy, add vegetable coloring and blend together. Let harden before using, if you want to cut it in squares.

Butter can also be stretched with a number of commercial or other stretchers. Select a stretcher that gives good consistency and does not change flavor.

If you're doing without a great deal of butter, here's how: Use margarines or shortenings for all cooking or baking. Save bacon and other drippings to use for frying. Occasionally, use jams, jelly and honey for spreads. Sandwiches can be spread with mayonnaise if the butter supply is low.

What are your problems in rationing? Write to Lynn Chambers for expert answers, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope for your reply, at Western Newspaper Union, 210 South Desplaines Street, Chicago, Illinois.

Shorter Lengths, Bigger Sleeves, Is the Important Fur Coat News

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THIS is certainly a year of years when it comes to superbly beautiful fur coats. They play up eye appeal for all it is worth and are making conversation the fashion world through.

Time was when fur coats had rather a sameness about them—"cut after one pattern" so to speak. Not so in this day and age! The modern fur coat really has news to tell. Such drastic changes in styling have taken place this season, and there are such marvels being performed in dyeing and working furs, and such artistry and ingenuity in introducing "ideas," that every woman should acquaint herself thoroughly with the smartest new trends before making her purchase.

To begin with, fur coats done in the 1943 manner broadcast the news of shorter lengths. Note that full-length is out. "Last word" models are short. Then too, sleeves bring a newsy message in that they have gone generously large, are made wide at the wrist and have added deep cuffs. Even the fastenings are being dramatized with use of novelty buttons and what is newer still, frog fastenings. There are other endless enhancing points that reflect a daring play of imagination.

The models pictured show up modern fur "coatology" in its newest aspect. Gray Bombay lamb goes into the making of the dashing double-breasted coat, to the left in the group. It is a 32-inch length, and is a style that is going over big with the younger set. The deep revered collar is precision tailored to a nicety. The loose easy-fitting sleeves have the very new turnback cuffs. The buttons are replicas of coins with Miss Liberty's head in bas-relief. Note the felt flower ear-muff trimming on the tiny calot.

The ultimate in glamour is achieved in the lovely new natural wild mink in golden honey tone, as centered in the trio. For this 34-inch coat the skins are worked on narrow ribbon to give extra suppleness. It has saddle shoulders and the new highly favored tuxedo front. The quiet elegance of this coat and its simple graceful lines are typical of the better models.

The coat to the right is treated with new and original dressmaker details that make for style distinction. The coat of muskrat (an all around fur that can take it) is especially interesting in that it is here worked in two tones. At the throat, double loops of the darker fur tie adroitly in a big bow effect. This flattering bow fastening is an innovation that is giving coats a refreshingly new look this season. The swagger pockets are also chic. The deep bell cuffs make news in that they serve as a muff when the hands are brought together. There is a drawstring arrangement in an undersleeve that snuggles about the wrists, giving no chance for breezes to penetrate.

Mink, seal and Persian lamb are the three outstanding staple furs and the greatest of these is mink. It outnumbers all others. News about Persian lamb coats is that there is a tendency toward fitted Chesterfield types that is very smart.

One of the highlights of this season of unusual fur coats is the matching fur hat that accompanies many coats. A seal coat, a seal hat, a Persian lamb coat with a hat to match, and so the news goes on and on. The fur handbag, especially the drawstring type, also enters into the scheme of things. Two new youthful furs exploited are white lamb and bleached raccoon.

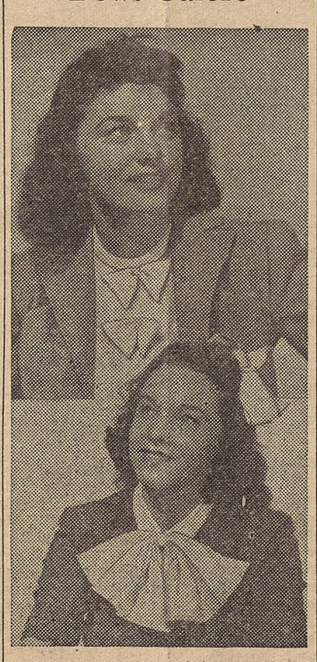
Bows Galore



Bows everywhere! That's the reaction that comes to one when making a sightseeing tour through neckwear displays. There's a new dickey out that makes bows its theme. The fabric used for the dickey is also an important talking point, being a nubby matelasse crepe as shown at the top. The other neckwear item is a little magic maker, and inexpensive, too. This small collar and bow (of course it would have a bow), is of a drop-stitched satin in frosty white. Try wearing it with a suit, or that basic dress that takes so kindly to pretty neckwear.

Novelty Gloves Are Brightly Colored

There is enthusiasm shown for novelty gloves. New in this class are long and also short suede gloves that are appliqued with velvet leaves in the identical color of their background. Gloves that range little bows from the top of the hand up through the entire length are prettily feminine.

Women are buying fabric gloves and giving them individual style accent with sequin embroidery, also with crochet ruffled edges with a cunning crochet flower at the wrist.

Colors for gloves in order of their popularity include fuchsia, gold, green, purple, wine and a newcomer in the field, turquoise blue, to be worn with the flattering little felt hats in the same shade. Of course, black and beige are still on the staple list.

Leopard Hat and Belt Dresses Up Black Crepe

The basic black crepe frock can be dressed up or down according to the accessories worn with it. The flair for leopard accessories, either the fur or simulated print that is done in authentic blacks, browns and tawny yellows is shown in smart hat and bag sets together with matching belts. There is also much use made of striped taffeta in startling black and white for dickeys, bows and other accents that give animation to black frocks.

All-Over Braided Coat

The wide use of braid is emphasized in a coat recently displayed that had been so closely braided it gave the appearance of Persian lamb.

Guarding War Prisoners

While war prisoners in internment camps in the United States serve one another as barbers, tailors, cooks and cobblers, and also do much to conduct their own affairs, a typical camp housing 3,000 of these men requires three Police Escort guard companies, or a total of 438 officers and enlisted men of the army, to supervise and guard it.

On the table throughout the evening potato chips, sandwiches, drinks, olives, pickles, and other delicious food was enjoyed.

BOYS AND GIRLS INVITED

W. W. Ficher, chief pharmacist mate, U.S.N., who has just returned from 14 months in the south Pacific, is inviting all boys and girls from 10 years to 18 and older to Wallace hall, 2083 Sunset Cliffs blvd., Friday, Nov. 12 from 7 to 8 p.m.

He will conduct a course on theories and practice of first aid, along with lots of interesting talks about his Navy experience. Mrs. Ficher, a service nurse, will be on hand.

Every boy and girl will be welcome and plans are being made to meet every Friday evening.

LOCAL MEN FIND GREAT SPORT HUNTING PHEASANTS

Taking advantage of a short holiday, J. O. "Tom" Plant and son William, also Dr. John W. Wilhoit and daughter Patricia, have returned this week from Richmond, Utah, where the men hunted ducks and pheasants in southeast Idaho and along the Bear river country of Cache valley.

Miss Wilhoit is a medical student at U.S.C. and had a few days off between semesters. Young Bill Plant has been an aircraft worker for several years, but reported to his draft board immediately upon his return for induction into service.

The senior Wilhoit and Plant report marvelous hunting, with their party of four getting 27 pheasants the first day in the field. Hospitality of the Utah folks was also highly praised, the party making their headquarters at Richmond where H. T. Plant jr., a brother of "Tom" is mayor of the city.

Activities and Classes at "Y"

Winnie, the war worker, weary from long hours at the bench and longing for the carefree fun she once enjoyed can find, at the YWCA, the very type of recreational activity she needs to become once more the smart pretty miss she once was.

The new activity program for which one can register any time is geared to the tempo of the woman war worker whose 48-hour week leaves little time for diversion or recreation unless that diversion is well planned. This war worker finds herself tired, a bit bulgy in the wrong spots—or with a pain across her shoulders from her work, she needs new friends, needs to know how to laugh, to dance, and swim.

Activities and classes at the "Y" cover every need and interest, and they are timed to suit the leisure hours of girls who work all shifts. There are clubs that meet once a week for supper at 6:15, these are small groups just right for sociability, and the evenings are spent in discussion, hobbies or planning week end outings. Business and professional workers meet on Tuesday evening and the production workers have their own meeting on Thursday nights. Clubs are open to all girls who are interested.

For those who like larger groups, there is the Production Worker's Get-together which includes swimming from 5-8—supper at 6:15, and a choice of interest classes at 8. This choice varies enough to include emergency shifts, such as ju jitsu, arts and crafts, and drama. Round table discussion groups which cover the war—the peace, and the worker's stake in it all are also a part of plans for this group.

Swing shift workers can relax at the "Swing Shift Forum" Wednesday noon, where after lunch, one can air one's views in the important issues of the day. A bit gayer is the "Swing Shift Frolic" from 11:30 Thursday night to 4:30 Friday morning. The hours are filled with much gaiety including swimming, badminton, ping pong, dancing and a buffet supper.

Day shift workers enjoy the weekly Friday evening dance and open house. Group singing, dancing, table games, and ping pong help to while away the hours. Classes are scheduled morning, afternoon and evenings, swimming, figure control, badminton, archery, basketball, bowling, volley ball, and ju jitsu are but a few listed. Dancing includes beginning and advanced ballroom, and square dancing which classes are open to both men and women, and a class in hula for women alone.

Riding a horse along the riverbed in Mission Valley with a group of congenial friends or bowling classes on Wednesday night are another part of this well planned program..

Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings from 8-9:30 the large swimming pool is open for mixed swimming of men and women.

Information on any of these activities can be obtained by calling the information desk at the YWCA, Main 8115.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Lois E. Titlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Titlow, 3765 Narragansett, was pleasantly surprised on her 17th birthday by a greeting card shower from her friends.

In the evening a birthday dinner was given by her parents. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Agsten of San Diego; Betty Jean Agsten, of Escondido; Irene Kennedy and Pvt. Ned A. Titlow, U.S.M.C., who was home on furlough from Redlands.

"Pastoral"; "Lo, Hear the Gentle Lark"; four songs by Debussy: "Voice que le printemps"; "Pierrot"; "Rondel chinois"; "Clair de lure"; "La Flute Enchantee"; (Ravel) "Una Voce Poco Fa" from "The Barber of Seville."

Wm. Richley, hardware merchant, is back from a few weeks visit with relatives on the upper Salmon river in Idaho. Bill looks rested up a bit besides putting on a few pounds of weight. He reports the first snows have fallen and bears coming down out of the mountains to ranchers cabins in the foothills.
